Asahikawa in 3 days

If you only have 3 days to spend in Asahikawa, we’ve narrowed down the top places you should check out to get the best experience of your time here.

Asahikawa is a great base for exploring central Hokkaido, with easy access to the dramatic peaks and hiking trails of Daisetsuzan National Park and nearby ski resorts. The city is known for Asahiyama Zoo, where thoughtfully designed enclosures let you observe animals up close, especially in winter. Food lovers come for its distinctive shoyu (soy sauce) ramen and local sake, while the compact city center offers galleries, museums, and riverside walks with views of surrounding mountains. In winter, the Asahikawa Winter Festival features large snow and ice sculptures, providing a smaller, more relaxed alternative to Sapporo’s.

With favorites like たん, Snow Crystal Museum, and Hokkaido Gokoku-jinja Shrine, we’ll make sure you don’t miss out on all the must sees. We even included some of our favorite food spots around the area, like Hokkaido Ramen Santouka and Sukiyaki Sankousha Asahikawa so you can get the best taste of Asahikawa while you’re here. To see our full list of food recommendations, check out our best restaurants post. If you're traveling on a budget, you can check out our cheap eats post.

Museum

Asahiyama Zoo is a modern zoo featuring reptiles, marine mammals, and a famous daily penguin parade. It's part of a comprehensive travel plan that includes other attractions like the hills of Biei, the Blue Pond, and flower fields at Farm Tomita in Furano. The zoo offers an exciting experience with various animal exhibits and the highlight being the entertaining penguin parade. Visitors can also explore nearby attractions such as Biei Patchwork Road and Blue Pond for stunning natural scenery.

Love this zoo. It is built on a hill slope. Animals are well kept and clean. Great place for children and adult alike. We entered by the East Gate which is at the top of the hill and stroll slowly downhill. When getting back to the East Gate, there is a bus stop mid point of zoo where you can catch a shuttle bus back to the top if you are tired. Inexpensive entry fees and worth your 3 to 4 hours spent there.. enjoy!

The Otokoyama Sake Brewing Museum, a former brewhouse-turned-museum, is a must-visit for sake lovers. It offers exhibits on traditional sake-making methods and provides the opportunity to taste different varieties of this popular Japanese beverage. Located in Asahikawa, Hokkaido, the museum provides an immersive experience into the world of sake production and allows visitors to appreciate the artistry and craftsmanship behind this iconic drink.

A small museum but we do can learn the whole process of making sake. A 200 Yan sake tasting gave nice experiences. No charges for the factory tour also self guided. At the testing room you deposit your coin and push a bottom for sale to dispense! Many old and traditional tools are on display to show how the sake were made during the past which was very neat!

Hokkaido Ramen Santouka is a popular ramen spot in Asahikawa, known for its sophisticated and flavorful bowls of ramen. Unlike other typical ramen shops in the area, Santouka offers a unique shio (salt) ramen alongside the traditional Asahikawa soy-sauce ramen. The noodles are slightly slimmer than usual, providing a nice bite, and the broths are tasty without being overly salty.

The taste is the same as the main shop. I had it in Singapore and it was so good, especially the Toroniku Ramen. Finally ate it at the original source and even better it's that it's half the price in Singapore! Ate it twice in Hokkaido.

Visitors can enjoy strolling through the patterned rows of blossoms or opt for a leisurely ride on a tractor bus.

The view at this place was spectacular. The flowers had a variety of colors and the same was beautiful. The air was refreshing and pictures taken with best with a blue sky. The place was big and you could not finish walking it within 5 hours. You could take a car and drive around it. Accessible via rental bicycle or taxi from Biei Station, cycling is highly recommended to fully embrace the refreshing air and gentle breezes of Biei.

I walked there from Miyama togue. It's very unique experience to just walking by myself on a country side by the fields. There was a cafe, soft ice-cream and vending machine for drink there but they were close when I got there around 5 or 5:30pm. It's not really a 'park' but more an observatory. I saw families driving there with kids. I didn't stay too long as I walked another hour to the Biei station to catch the train!

Kanno Farm, located between Biei and Kamifurano along National Route 237 in Hokkaido, is a picturesque flower and vegetable farm. With over 30 types of flowers on display from mid-June to mid-October, including lavender, clematis, and salvia, the farm offers stunning views across its rolling landscape. The vibrant blooms create a colorful backdrop for photography enthusiasts. Visitors can also sample fresh produce such as corn and potatoes directly from the farm.

Kanno Farm is located on a hill slope besides National Route 237. It has ample car parks. Whereas Farm Tomita and Shikisai-no-Oka are often crowded with tourists arriving in tour coaches, Kanno Farm is less commercialised and therefore, less crowded. Although Kanno Farm is not big, it has rolling hill slopes of lavender and other flowering plants. Paths lead up to the hill top where visitors can enjoy a downhill view of the flowering garden. There is a small retail and refreshment area in a building besides the car park. My wife and I visited Kanno Farm in July as part of other attractions in Biei. We enjoyed the less busy environment and were able to better appreciate the flowers.

The Tree of Ken and Mary is a tall poplar tree located in the Biei Shirogane hot spring resort area, known for its appearance in a 1970s Nissan commercial. It stands out in the area and is easily recognizable. The subterranean waterfall nearby, with water flowing from the Tokachidake mountain range, adds to the natural beauty of the surroundings.

The Tree of Ken and Mary is a beautiful and iconic spot in Biei, known for its role in a famous commercial for the Nissan Skyline. Visiting in winter, we found the landscape (fukei) around the tree truly breathtaking, with snow-covered fields stretching out into the distance. The tree, standing alone against the vast, snowy backdrop, creates a peaceful and almost nostalgic scene, especially for fans of the commercial. Winter brings a quiet beauty to the area, making it an ideal time for those who enjoy tranquil, scenic views and a touch of cinematic history.

Shinto shrine Sights & Landmarks Shrine Sacred & Religious Sites

Hokkaido Gokoku-jinja Shrine, established in 1902, is a serene Shinto shrine surrounded by lush greenery, including deciduous trees and flowers. It was built during the Meiji Era to honor the spirits of fallen soldiers from Hokkaido and Sakhalin. The Heisei Building on the premises serves as a museum showcasing Hokkaido's military history.

Lovely place. We were there late in the evening and it was closed. So we enjoyed a slow walk around the shrine with the beautiful evening sun. At least this is a must visit place at Asahikawa.

3 Asahikawa Station

Save

★★★★★ 4.2 (1156) • 3.5 (27)

Train station

Asahikawa Station is a bustling hub for travelers, offering easy access to the Heiwa Shopping Street and various attractions. The station serves as a convenient starting point for visiting popular destinations such as Asahiyama Zoo, Kawamura Kaneto Ainu Kinenkan, Otokoyama Sake Brewery, and Ramen Village.

Lovely and beautiful train station especially in winter where the track covered by snow. Not a busy station and beutiful interior design. The bus terminal is just outside the train station and people here are friendly and nice. A grandma who cant speak english even try help and lead us into correct queue line for bus.

★★★★★ 4.1 (1394)

Shopping mall

AEON MALL Asahikawa Ekimae is a popular destination in Japan, offering a wide range of shops and services. The mall features various stores selling groceries, clothing, hiking gear, and electronics. Visitors can also enjoy the food court on the first floor, which offers options like McDonald's, ramen, and rice/meat bowls. Additionally, the fourth floor houses a cinema and several restaurants serving pasta, meat dishes, all-you-can-eat buffets, and Japanese specialties.

We went there to do some shopping for our meals' needs. The shopping is decent amd well stocked with needed items for cooking. We does took few items that's prepack meals. Prices are reasonable

$$$ Confectionery store Sights & Landmarks Cafe Show 5 more

Tsuboya Kibana no mori is a multi-functional complex in Asahikawa City, Hokkaido, operated by Tsuboya. It offers traditional pastries, cakes, coffee, and tea in a relaxed space with light-wood decor and garden seating. The facility includes a convenience shop and other cultural attractions nearby. Visitors can watch the making of Kibana confections and even try their hand at making sweets in the kitchen.

White chocolate specialty. This shop has many premium confectionery and snacks. The signature white chocolate confectionery is expensive but worth it. The staff is very friendly. No tax free available. Free parking onsite.
